

HELIUM

NOBLE GAS

DISCOVERED IN 1868

ATOMIC MASS: 4.002602

Helium has a low density so is often used to fill decorative balloons, weather balloons and airships. Hydrogen was once used to fill balloons but it is dangerously reactive.